

CM3215 Fundamentals of Chemical Engineering Laboratory
Dr. Faith A. Morrison

Problem mentioned in class 31Aug2011:

The pressure in a tank (figure below) is measured with a mercury manometer. The manometer is isolated from the water in the tank by an intermediate section of piping in which oil is trapped. What is the pressure in the head space above the water for the heights and fluids shown in the figure?

